

GrindLog - Legal Documents (Draft)

Draft templates for Privacy Policy, Terms & Conditions, and Refund Policy. Replace placeholders and have them reviewed by a legal professional before publishing.

Privacy Policy

Effective Date: _____

GrindLog collects account information (name, email), habit and journal data you choose to store, payment status (card details are processed by Razorpay and not stored by us), device information, analytics, and support communications.

We use this information to provide the service, sync data, improve features, send requested notifications, provide support, and comply with legal obligations.

We do not sell personal information. Limited data may be shared with trusted providers such as Supabase, Razorpay, Resend, and analytics tools solely to operate the service.

You may request account deletion. Data will be deleted or anonymized unless retention is legally required. We use reasonable security measures but cannot guarantee absolute security.

Terms & Conditions

By using GrindLog, you agree to these Terms. You are responsible for your account and must not misuse the service or violate laws. Premium features are available after successful payment. Prices may change for future purchases. AI-generated insights are informational only and are not medical, legal, or financial advice. We may suspend accounts involved in abuse or fraud. Liability is limited to the maximum extent permitted by law.

Refund Policy

Contact support@grindlog.app with your payment details for refund requests. Lifetime purchase refunds may be considered within the period required by law or your published policy, subject to review. Subscription cancellations prevent future renewals but do not automatically refund prior payments. Approved refunds are returned through the original payment method; processing time depends on Razorpay and the bank.

Contact

support@grindlog.app

Replace with your final domain and contact details before launch.